

EVALUATE YOUR FINANCIAL AID OFFERS

CAREFULLY

Using this worksheet, do a side-by-side comparison of each college's financial aid offer to determine what it will cost you to attend.* A quick way to compare offers and determine your net costs is to subtract all your grant, scholarship and other free aid from your cost of attendance.

* Keep in mind that not all colleges participate in all of the financial aid programs listed here.
  If room and board aren't part of your housing contract, check with the college's housing office or look in the local paper for rental costs.

When comparing offers, be sure to ask :

- What is the college's cost of attendance—does it include all of your college costs and is it realistic?
- How much aid is being offered in grants and scholarships? Are they renewable each year? Will the dollar amount increase with tuition hikes? Are there specific terms and conditions? For instance, do you need to maintain a certain GPA?
- Are merit scholarships available? If so, how do you apply?
- If you're offered work-study, how many hours will you need to work each week? What's the hourly pay rate? What's the availability of jobs? Are there jobs related to your major or career goal?
- How much loan aid is offered? Are the loans subsidized or unsubsidized? What are the terms and conditions of each loan?
- Will the college apply outside scholarships toward your unmet need or reduce other aid? If other aid will be reduced, which aid?
- If grants, scholarships or federal loans don't cover your total calculated financial need, can you dip further into any assets, get a part-time job or do you need to borrow more?
- What is the average loan debt of the college's graduates overall—and of graduates in your major?
